Under the terms of United States Copyright Law, Nova Science Publishers, inc. (NOVA) must formally obtain transfer of copyright before a chapter/article can be published, unless it was prepared as part of the author's official duties as an employee of the United States government.

NOVA grants to the author (and to all coauthors) the right to present orally in any forum all or part of the work. It is also stipulated that all graphics including figures, tables and charts may be republished without permission from Nova Science.

In consideration of the fact that NOVA undertakes to publish my article/chapter:

1. I affirm that the material is original (updated or syntheses of previously published works are considered original).
2. I affirm that I (and my coauthors) have obtained written permission for unrestricted use of any previously copyrighted material included in the article and that such documentation will be forwarded to NOVA for its files. I further affirm that I (and my coauthors) have stated any possible conflicts of interest within the article.
3. I (and my coauthors) hereby assign and transfer to NOVA all rights, including digital rights, of copyright ownership and permissions to the article/chapter, including without limitation or restriction, all rights of reproduction, derivation, distribution, sale, reuse, and display of the work, in whole or in part, including recompilation and stand-alone publication, in any and all forms of media now or hereafter known, including all electronic and digital media, as protected by the laws of the United States and foreign countries and to authorize others to make such uses of the work. These rights will become the property of NOVA from the date of acceptance of the article/chapter for publication and extend for the life of the copyright. I understand that NOVA, as copyright owner, has authority to grant permission to reproduce the article/chapter.
